

"Metropolis"

$400K
Budget

25,000+
Square Feet

180+
Employees

FEB 2017
Completion

PatientPoint wanted a space that felt industrial and high-tech when moving into the Kenwood Collection office space, originally marked for retail use. The new open design and collaborative work spaces have changed the feeling of working for the growing technology company for the better.

“You can't come in here and not feel energized.”

Mike Collette
CEO, PatientPoint

www.bizjournals.com/Cincinnati

"Emerald City"

"The Sandlot"

"Smallville"

Employee Involvement Was Key In Creating The New Space

All of the common area / collaborative spaces were chosen by the employees via a voting system. They chose a theme of inspirational and mythical places – some from movies and tv shows. This got the employees invested in their new space and created a positive energy.

“ The client came during the bid process (and after) and was always very inspired by the showroom. We had great meetings using CET to show what their new space would look like and had a workshop here [LOTH] with their team to select furniture finishes. ”

Laurel Gibson
Senior Interior Designer, LOTH, Inc.

163
Work
Stations

A very open, collaborative setting and a space to wow their customers highlighting their craft and creativity was a must-have.

22
Private Offices

Relocating to a larger space, PatientPoint selected 3 floors in the Kenwood Collection building, originally allocated for retail.

8
Meeting Spaces

The “Atlantis” in the front of the office has garage style doors opening up to a mock patient room to show perspective clients.

Cafe
Area + Reception

LOTH wasn't the least expensive company to bid on this project, but the client believed our team would provide the best solution.

To learn more about this project, visit www.lothinc.com/patientpoint

PatientPoint
5901 E Galbraith Rd Ste. R1000
Cincinnati, OH 45236
www.patientpoint.com

PatientPoint Contact
Kimberly Theiss, EVP Operations
513.936.6111
kimberly.theiss@patientpoint.com

TDA Architects + Interiors
Kristin Kendrick, LEED GA
513.241.9330
kkendrick@tdaia.com

LOTH Project Contact
Andrea Berry
513.554.8838
aberry@lothinc.com